EPIPHANY GUILD NAMES OFFICERS FOR YEAR 1914

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Epiphany Guild members took place at the Guild Hall, January 8th, the Rev. Mr. Saylor presiding in the absence of Mrs. Cox.

The following ladies were unanimously elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. Boswell, president, Mrs. Jacobson, vice president; Mrs. Hofgaard, secretary; Mrs. Schroeder, treasurer.

After the business matters had been settled, a general discussion took place in order to plan ways and means of raising money for the new church which they hope to erect in the near future.

After the meeting had adjourned, refreshments were served by Mrs. Clark, hostess for the day.

INTERESTING PROGRAM FOR CENTRAL UNION CHURCHGOERS TOMORROW

Tomorrow will be an unusually interesting day at Central Union church, with Rev. Albert Erdman, D. D., in the pulpit in the morning and Hon. Jeff McGarr speaking in the evening. Dr. Erdman is the father of Rev. John P. Erdman, so his address will have a double interest to Honoluluans. Reports from New Jersey and from those here who have been privileged to hear him previously indicate that a fine address may be expected. This is the first time that Dr. Erdman has spoken in Central Union church during his present visit. Six years ago he was in the islands and supplied for three months the Kahului Church on Maui, where his term of service is still recalled with appreciation. Since resigning from the South Street Presbyterian church in Morristown, New Jersey (of which he is still pastor emeritus), Dr. Erdman has supplied various churches for short periods. His many friends will be glad to know that he is proposing to visit his son for some time.

Several of the finest triple-reel pictures flashed across Ye Liberty screen in many weeks were displayed last evening with the opening engagement of the Neptune Portrayers.

The late pictorial offerings from mainland producers were shown at their best. A change of program is announced for each evening performance. The pictures are in some instances highly colored and faithfully depict a series of stirring incidents.

The Neptune Portrayers have made arrangements for introducing only the latest productions.

Offices in the Kapiolani building have been opened by L. M. Whitehouse, city and county engineer. Because of his force and work, due to the creation by the supervisors of a grade map bureau fund, he has found it necessary to obtain more office space. In the Kapiolani building the engineering and the grade map work will be done. His former offices will be for the road department.

HAWAIIAN-MADE CRATES USED IN UNION INDUSTRY

"Home buying" is carried out to its full extent in the new and growing union industry in Hawaii. On exhibition at the Hawaiian Development Company's office on Alakea street is a large crate of onions. The onions were grown by S. T. Starrett and Company and the crate is made of ohia by the Pahoa Mill Company on Hawaii. The crate is strong and serviceable. S. T. Starrett says it will go from Honolulu to London without injury. Furthermore, he gets these home-produced crates at practically the same rate as California crates. "We might as well keep all the money possible at home," is his way of looking at it.

Nor-west pine crates cost about 19 cents apiece and the freight on them to Honolulu is 4 1/2 cents. The Hawaiian-made crate is available at approximately the same price.

AT THE THEATERS

BIJOU THEATER

One of the real big novelties on the mainland stage has been secured for a limited engagement in this city, in the musical comedy act given by Armon and Armon. Armon and Armon are young men who are credited with being equally proficient in playing at least 17 reed and band instruments. They can extract harmony out of most anything that is playable. They open at the Bijou this evening.

In a series of selections, both popular and classic, the team will be heard in the cornet, trumpet, violin, corralion, bandpipes, bagpipes, saxophone, saxophone, clarinet and drums. In addition to this new act, the latest first run pictures will be displayed on the Bijou screen. Interspersing the pictures will be vocal selections from the little Altagus sisters. The work of these local singers always receives well merited applause. A change of bill is announced for the week beginning with Monday evening.

YE LIBERTY THEATER
